March 21st Update

It's Spring Cleaning time here in the CS:GO office, and we've been busy. In fact, if you were following Reddit last night, you've probably already got an idea of just how busy. With a display of reflex, cunning and teamwork usually reserved for the game, some of the CS:GO community managed to get an early look at today's update. But for those of you who didn't sneak a peek yet, we might as well make it official.

First up: We've added some new twists and improvements to "Militia", one of Counter-Strike's most longstanding and popular hostage rescue maps. Available in all game modes, "Militia" has the same look and feel as the map you remember, with a few new surprises along the way. We think you'll enjoy the improvements. We've also overhauled the Main Menu, making it easier than ever to find and join
